Modules

AH5001 From the Cloister into the World

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will examine the introduction of Gothic architecture in England and analyse the stylistic changes from the twelfth century to the styles of the 1240s. These underline a shift of emphasis from the patronage of the Church to that of the Crown. The course will explore changes in patronage and artistic style, following the rebuilding of Canterbury Cathedral, and the creation of a major pilgrimage centre following the murder of Becket. It discusses the nature of the so-called “Channel style”, emphasising the links with the Continent, which were to be clearly marked in the patronage of Henry III and the rebuilding of Westminster Abbey.

Class Hour: 3.00 pm Monday, 9.00 -11.00 am Friday. One additional class, to be arranged.

Teaching: Three classes.

AH5008 British and American Visitors to Italy

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module is concerned with the ways in which British and American travellers experienced Italy, especially Florence, during the nineteenth century, a period in which the Italian tour took on new forms and became more popular in character. In short, the Cook’s Tour replaced the Grand Tour. The approach is in part art historical and in part literary, drawing on travel books and on the writings of Ruskin, the Brownings, Mark Twain, E.M. Forster and others.

Class Hour: 4.00 - 5.15 pm Tuesday and Thursday and either 10.00 am or 11.00 am Monday. One additional class to be arranged.

Teaching: Three classes.

AH5009 The Classical Country House 1650-1750

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module identifies developments in the form and function, expressed both in terms of plan and elevation, of the country house, and relates these to changes in landscape/garden design. The following themes are covered: the double pile plan; Scottish classicism; large-scale formal country house planning in England; the Palladian revival; the sources of the informal garden; William Adam as country house architect and garden designer. The course is British in scope, and particular attention will be paid to experiments in Scotland, some of which will be examined at first hand.

Class Hour: 11.00 - 1.00 pm Monday and either 4.00 pm Monday or 3.00 pm Tuesday. One additional class, to be arranged.

Teaching: Three classes.

AH5013 Wyndham Lewis & English Art 1900-1939

Credits 40.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module aims to examine the complex historical processes which shaped English art in the first four decades of this century. It will relate artistic change to broader social, political and cultural developments. The course will focus on the key developments in English avant-gardism in the period circa 1913, and on the emergence of a second avant-garde in the 1930s. A central figure in the course will be Wyndham Lewis whose career allows us to concentrate on important themes in critical and aesthetic theory.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Friday. One additional class, to be arranged.

AH5018 Russian Modernism: Theory & Practice 1908-1916

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School. Also optional module for Central & East European Studies Postgraduate Taught Programme.

Description: This module will focus on the formation of an innovative avant-garde in Russia in the early decades of the twentieth century, concentrating particularly on the factors which conditioned the emergence of abstraction in painting and sculpture within such movements as Neoprimitivism, Cubo-Futurism, Suprematism and Constructivism. The course will analyse individual works of art and examine relevant contemporary texts in translation, especially artists' statements. At the same time, works and movements will be examined within the wider framework of the artistic interchange between Western ideas and native Russian sources, current literary and philosophical ideas, and the profound changes transforming Russian society.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm and 2.00 pm Thursday. One additional class, to be arranged.

AH5033 Cubism and its Influence 1907-1921

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2002-03

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will concentrate on the influence that Picasso, Braque and the Cubist School of Paris exerted on other artists. Particular attention will be paid to movements such as Futurism (Severini and Boccioni) and Purism (Ozenfant and Jeanneret) and to individuals like Mondrian and Malevich for whom Cubism acted as an impulse towards abstraction. The course will also look at the way in which sculptors like Laurens and Lipchitz translated the pictorial, two-dimensional inventions of Cubism into real materials in three dimensions.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm and 2.00 pm Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.

AH5039 Thirteenth-Century Bestsellers: The Psalter and Apocalypse

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: The course examines two of the most popular types of book in the thirteenth century, and explores the functions which these texts were meant to serve. It traces the way in which the Psalter's popularity was overtaken by the Book of Hours, reflecting changes in lay devotion. The didactic quality of the Book of Revelation was also adapted to the tastes of an aristocratic, often female readership, and the implications of this will be investigated.

Class Hour: 3.00 pm Monday, 9.00 - 11.00 am Friday. One additional class to be arranged.

AH5049 Cubism: Picasso and Braque 1907-1914

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will focus primarily on the genesis and development of Cubism between 1907 and 1914 as seen in the paintings of Picasso and Braque. Attention will also be paid to secondary Cubists like Gris, Gleizes and Metzinger, their theoretical contributions and related phenomena such as the Orphism of Delaunay and the contrast of form series of Léger. A detailed formal analysis of the most important works produced by these artists at this time will be accompanied by a thorough examination of the practical and theoretical implications of these works, their relationship to the more general philosophical, cultural and ideological context within which they were created, the critical dialogue which they generated, and the validity of terms like Analytical, Hermetic and Synthetic Cubism.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm and 2.00 pm Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.

AH5056 Whistler and Victorian Art

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: Although the American artist James McNeill Whistler (1834-1903) trained as a painter in Paris, it was as an English artist in London that he made his career between 1859 and 1879, when his professional career was temporarily interrupted by his bankruptcy following the suit for libel which Whistler brought against the critic John Ruskin. In order to understand Whistler's intentions his art will be examined in the context of the professional career structure of the Victorian painter, of the Royal Academy exhibition and its critics, where Whistler exhibited regularly until 1872; the commercial galleries where he also showed his work, such as The Dudley Gallery, The Society of French Artists and the Grosvenor Gallery, and his first one-man exhibition of 1874. The social and cultural background of the patrons and buyers of his art such as James Leathart and F R Leyland will also be considered; as well as the Whistler-Ruskin trial.

AH5060 The New Style in Eastern Europe: Art Nouveau and National Romanticism 1890-1914

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School. Also optional module for Central & East European Studies Postgraduate Taught Programme.

Description: This module examines the development of the so-called 'New Style', the east European variation of Art Nouveau with its admixture of National Romanticism. Concentrating on the modern architecture and applied arts created within the lands of the Russian empire attention is focused on the relationship between nationalist aspirations and the desire for European integration. The movements considered include Nordic Romanticism in Russian design, Karelianism in Finland and Jugendstil in Latvia. Explored within these is the role of major figures and artists' colonies, including Gallen-Kallela, Saarinen, Shekhtel, Korovin, Rozentals, Eisenstein, and the Abramtsevo and Talashkino colonies.

AH5064 Sculpture and Society in Early Renaissance Italy c. 1260-1400

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: Late thirteenth- and early fourteenth-century Italy produced a distinctive flavour of Gothic sculpture based on north European models and Italy's own antique past. This course will survey the craft of sculpture as it was practised in Italy from Nicola Pisano c. 1250 up to the early years of the fifteenth century. The aim of the module is to encourage understanding of this pivotal phase of Italian art and to situate the achievement of its sculptors within the contexts of the mediaeval craft tradition and contemporary developments in Italian society.

AH5074 Scottish Photography and its Context

Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School. Also optional module for History of Photography and Scottish Studies Postgraduate Taught Programmes.

Description: This module will examine Scottish photography between c.1860 and the contemporary period. It will be divided into three areas of study; the landscape tradition, the documentary tradition, and issues in 'art' photography. These themes will be studied independently, but also in relation to a number of relevant contexts. These will include; the influence of Scottish art on photography, the relationship between photography in Europe and America and photography in Scotland, the aesthetic debates surrounding the status of the photograph as art object.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Friday. One further class to be arranged.

AH5079 Thomas Chippendale and Scotland

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 2

Availability: 2003-04

Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: Thomas Chippendale the Elder is not known to have visited Scotland but it can be argued that his impact is more concentrated here than in any other country. This module will introduce Thomas Chippendale against the background of the eighteenth century cabinet making world, analyse the commercial enterprise that was 'Chippendale & Rannie' and then turn attention to the publication, promotion and influence of the Gentleman and Cabinet Makers Director in Scotland. Field visits will be made to the sites of important early commissions and documentary evidence of the firm's activity in Scotland will be studied. The lasting influence of the designs into the 1960s will be addressed.

AH5082 The Ship

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module investigates the subject and symbolism of the ship as it relates to art and architectural history. Discussion, potentially via e-mail, will include the ship as visual metaphor: its antique and modern political, religious, mythological and commercial iconography; its expression of 'rite', 'passage', 'power' and 'frailty'. Alternatively, the ship and sailor may be studied in their role in the development of styles and cultural traditions. Examples will range from seventeenth-century Dutch marine painting to Eisenstein's film Battleship Potemkin; Egyptian burial ships; rostral columns; Baroque ship pulpits and fountains; Le Corbusier's liner-inspired architecture; Bosch's Ship of Fools; naval portraiture, uniforms and emblems; Klee's, Hamilton Finlay's, Kandinsky's boats, submarines and celestial ships.

AH5084 Picturing the Apocalypse

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2002-03

Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will examine the issues involved in medieval apocalypse illustration. The purpose is to introduce students to the visual tradition and the factors, liturgical and political which shaped the iconography. The module will explore the relationship between the verbal text and the illustration in specific examples, using facsimiles where appropriate. Students will examine a range of media; glass, panel, textiles, fresco, in independent case-studies.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Two hour seminar per fortnight.

AH5085 Art and Politics in the Trecento

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: Art in Italy in the period ca. 1230-1400 was sometimes employed to promote the political agendas of the city states. The kings of Naples, oligarchies such as Florence and Siena, and despotic regimes such as those of Milan and Verona employed imagery to express their ideals and achievements and to manipulate public opinion in their favour. This module will investigate the relationship between late medieval Italian art (but mainly sculpture) and competing political ideologies. It will also explore how regimes sympathetic to the Pope or to the German emperor employed art to declare allegiance to one or other of these two ‘universal’ powers.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Two hour seminar per fortnight.

AH5086 Film and Photography in Post-Revolutionary Russia

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will focus on the development of experimental photography (including photomontage) and film in post-revolutionary Russia, concentrating particularly on the 1920s and early 1930s. It will look at the theory and practice of such figures as Gustav Klucis, Aleksandr Rodchenko, Dziga Vertov, Sergei Eisenstein, and Esfir Shub. The historical and ideological factors conditioning their production will be considered alongside their own theoretical statements and the aesthetic developments and debates of the period. The inter-relationships between the two media will also be considered.
