Anti-requisite: EN3017

Description: This module aims to provide the student with a comprehensive and sophisticated understanding of the development of mediaeval romance in Britain, and the role of Arthurian legend in creating and sustaining this popular and flexible genre. The module begins by tracing the evolving literary figure of Arthur, whose development parallels that of the romance genre itself. The major themes, issues, and narrative forms of the genre are then explored through a range of Arthurian and non-Arthurian texts. The contemporary audience for, and patronage of, the mediaeval romances will be examined partly through issues raised in the texts themselves, such as social class and gender (from the beginning, women played a large role in both the audience and patronage of romances), and partly through direct consideration of their textual transmission and manuscript background. Who wrote these texts? Who read them? How and where, in an age before printing, were they circulated and publicised? And finally, what was (and is) their enduring appeal?
