EN3111 Beowulf
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am and 11.00 am Fri
This module introduces students to one of the strangest works of mediaeval literature, Beowulf. The hero's struggles against monsters, and the text's depiction of pagan aristocracies and tribal warfare will be studied in close readings and thematic study against the backdrop of Anglo-Saxon literary history and poetic conventions. Key aspects studied will include monstrosity, warfare, paganism, leadership, poetic composition, early mediaeval manuscript production, and the usage of electronic tools. The module will also range widely amongst related North Sea literature (Old English poetry, Old Norse sagas, mediaeval Latin, and modern folklore). Beowulf will be read in a glossed edition and in the original; supporting material will be read in translation. Some prior experience with reading Old English (e.g. through EN2003) is useful, but not necessarily required. (Group A)

EN3165 'Loose Baggy Monsters': The Rise and Fall of the Victorian Novel
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	9.00 am - 11.00 am Wed
In spite of what Henry James's famously disparaging characterisation of Victorian novels as 'loose baggy monsters' might suggest, the novel was, without a doubt, the dominant cultural form of the Victorian period. From the prudent and proper to the rude and risqué, and from the 1830s to the fin de siècle, the Victorian novel was, in its own time, a capacious, malleable and contested form of cultural production, and one which continues to resist easy categorisation today. On this module we will explore the rich heterogeneity of the Victorian novel through close examination of works by a range of canonical and non-canonical authors. We will examine the changing shape of the novel throughout the nineteenth century (from the sprawling 'monstrosity' of the triple-decker to the compact neatness of the proto-modernist aesthetic of the 1890s), as well as the range of novelistic genres that proliferated at this time (including realism, sensation, the industrial novel, Victorian gothic, horror, adventure, and science fiction), and consider the ways in which the cultural, social and political values of Victorian Britain are both encoded and contested in the novels of the age.

EN3166 Victorian Poetry's Voices
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester: 2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	9.00 am - 11.00 am Tue
Throughout the Victorian period poetry was viewed simultaneously as the highest mode of artistic expression and as a marginal practice, consigned to the periphery of culture by the novel, the newspaper, and other popular forms of writing. This ambiguity sparked a series of debates about the place of poetry in modern culture, as Victorian poets tried to define and defend the value and purpose of their work. This module will explore these debates by focusing on the concept of 'voice' in a range of canonical and non-canonical poems. The module will consider how Victorian poets experimented with the forms and conventions of verse in order to speak in different voices, writing innovative poems that undermined the barrier between literary language and the patterns of everyday speech, and that interrogated the links between language and personal identity. It will also examine the ways in which poets used the diverse voices of their writing to address the social and political issues that shaped Victorian culture.

EN3201 Literary Theory
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am - 1.00 pm Fri
This module is designed to guide students through some fundamental questions in literary theory, and introduce them to the writing of some canonical critical theorists. Week by week, in a series of two-hour sessions, students will be introduced to a question or problem in literary interpretation, such as the role of the unconscious in writing, the ideas of ethnicity and nation and their influence on literature and culture. By reading a selection of theoretical texts each week, students will develop an understanding of these fundamental questions. Students will be introduced to the terminology of the various different theoretical positions studied; gaining familiarity with feminist, psychoanalytical, Marxist, post-colonial and post-structuralist concepts and terms, amongst others. Students should be able to understand these terms and employ them in their own work in a clear and unpretentious manner. Over the course of this module students will also have to consider the methodology of other disciplines in the arts, humanities and social sciences (philosophy, anthropology, political theory and history, for example), and ask how the methodology of literary studies is related to those other disciplines. SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am Thu and 11.00 am Fri
An introduction to the history of ecology-related literature from the transcendentalists to the present, including the nature writing tradition, ecocriticism and writing as ecology. Beginning with Emerson and Thoreau, we examine how a transcendentalist philosophy of nature influenced English-language works in the UK and USA; we also address a number of schools or trends, including feminist, regional, naturalist, Native American and other indigenous thinking, as well as the implications of ecocritical writing for a wider field, including other literary-critical approaches, economics and history. EN3212 Modernist Literature: Making It New?
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	3.00 pm - 5.00 pm Thu
This module will survey a representative sample of modernist fiction and poetry, providing an opportunity for the in-depth study of key conceptual shifts and formal innovations in modernist literature. Thematically, it will take as its central focus the question of how the modernist desire to break with the past and 'make it new' existed alongside an on-going interest in tradition and the past. We will consider topics such as Imagism and classicism; modernist uses of myth; the modernist pastoral; modernism and memory; exile and imagined return; and the anticipatory nostalgia of the 1930s. SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	1.00 pm Tue and 1.00 pm Thu
A diverse and contested field, postcolonialism explores a world transformed by European exploration, exploitation and empire-building. This course examines literary representations of this world and will introduce students to a range of key texts, critical debates and theoretical concepts in postcolonial studies. Focusing, in particular (but not exclusively), on the legacies of the British empire, we will explore the work of writers from across Africa, the Caribbean, India and Britain in order to question the ways in which postcolonial literature and theory challenges our understanding of race, class, gender, language and the individual. How has the history of empire shaped the world in which we live? In what ways have writers responded to the pressures to both commemorate the colonial past and move beyond it? And, what role can literature play in the attempt to challenge the historical and political injustices of our postcolonial world? (Group E)

EN3214 The Country and the City in Scottish Literature
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	12.00 noon - 2.00 pm Mon
What and where is Scotland? How have the cities and the countryside of Scotland been created over the last 200 years? And what are the internal and external borders of Scottish literature - psychologically, geographically and formally? By exploring Scottish novels - and poetry - from the early 19th century to the present day we examine the literary construction and deconstruction of Scotland through depictions of its rural and urban spaces. In particular, we analyse dystopian and utopian fantasies, green and gothic tendencies, and nostalgia both for the lost idyllic countryside and for gritty, urban 'reality', to ask if Scotland as a literary construction makes sense - and if it needs to. EN3215 Atomic Cultures: Anglophone Writing and the Global Cold War
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am Tue and 11.00 am Thu
On August 6, 1945, the bombing of Hiroshima announced the beginning of a new, "nuclear" age. As the Second World War came to an end, the victors geared up for a new and no less global conflict, a Cold War between the U.S.S.R and the western powers which would involve countless other nations, taking place by means of espionage, proxy wars, and cultural influence. This module introduces the literature and related culture of the Cold War Anglosphere, from reportage and protest lyrics to fictions of apocalypse, espionage, and paranoia, and explores how the radioactive energy of the atomic age reshaped the twentieth-century imagination. EN3216 Modern Experimental Poetry
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	3.00 pm - 5.00 pm Thu
The module examines some of the most innovative and provocative poets of the postwar period. The aims are to attain a sense of the most significant poetic movements of the postwar period; to examine the prevalence and value of transatlantic poetic exchange; to observe how large and complex aesthetic developments can be detected in the specifics of individual oeuvres and friendships; to relate the acts of poetic composition and critical reception to relevant broader questions of a historical, philosophical or political nature; to develop the skills of very close reading the texts we will discuss demand, while becoming attuned to the historical development of different reading practices. We will be looking to establish points of continuity or disagreement between poets as the idea of formal 'experimentalism' or 'innovation' or 'otherness' alters according to time and place. The module will help students approach literature confidently as critics.

EN3217 Writing Poetry
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	9.00 am - 11.00 am Wed
This module allows students to explore some of the most common techniques, forms and modes of poetry and to develop their own practice as poets. The first half of the semester will focus on aspects of prosody such as meter and rhythm, rhyme and form, image and metaphor, allowing students to reimagine these practices from the point of view of the writing, rather than the analysis, of poetry. The second half of the module will concentrate on some of the main genres of poetry, such as lyric and elegy, with students encouraged to experiment with their own versions or anti-versions of these modes. The first hour each week will be spent discussing an aspect of poetry, with reference to the work of one or two poets, while the second hour will be spent workshopping students' poems.

Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	9.00 am and 10.00 am Thu
Christianity has always incorporated within its beliefs and institutions an inbuilt expectation of the End of Time, as brought about by the Second Coming of Christ and the Day of Judgment. On this module students will examine the expression of that apocalyptic expectation in a number of literary genres in English, including Biblical texts, chronicles, homilies, and poems from the early medieval period. These texts sometimes include colourful depictions of hell, the Antichrist, and dragons in the sky, but can also be intensely political, as well as theologically involved. Students will translate and study these works in Old English (or Anglo-Saxon) and Early Middle English. Previous experience with this language is necessary. (Group A)

EN4342 Restoration Drama in Context
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am - 1.00 pm Mon
This module focuses on dramatic literature from the period c. 1660-1710 while aiming to study dramatic art in relation to its literary and historical contexts. We will read approximately half a dozen plays in different genres alongside the poetry of John Dryden, the Earl of Rochester, Aphra Behn, and others, and in conversation with Restoration historiography. We will also touch on the material conditions of Restoration theatre: playhouses and stages, players and performances, patronage and economics. (Group B)

EN4345 Hard Cases: Literary Complexity from Donne to Pope
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Mon
During the English Renaissance it was widely understood that literature ought to 'instruct by pleasing'. This module is concerned with those writers and texts that seem to ignore this imperative. Why, we will ask, do writers from John Donne to Alexander Pope go out of their way to challenge or baffle or confuse or overwhelm their readers? What are the forms, conditions, and uses of literary complexity? This module might alternatively be called 'How To Read Hard Renaissance Texts.' Likely authors studied will include Donne, Marvell, Cavendish, Milton, Dryden, Swift, Pope. (Group B)

EN4346 The Early Tudors: Literature and Reformation
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am Tue and Thu
This module explores poetry, prose and drama from the reign of Henry VIII through to the early years of Elizabeth I's rule. It will examine the remodelling of literary forms in a period of religious and political 'reformation', combining broad cultural and historical perspectives with in-depth textual analysis. Key texts include: More's Utopia; the poetry of Wyatt, Surrey and Skelton; early sixteenth-century religious verse; and the allegorical drama Everyman. Students will have the opportunity to write on the reception of this period in film, novels, the visual arts, etc. (Group B)

EN4348 Bodies and Selves in the Renaissance
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	12.00 noon - 2.00 pm Thu
The aim of this module is to place the relationship between the body, the self and the book at the heart of our understanding of Renaissance literature. From the body as a site for systems of ritual punishment, to dissection as a model for selfhood, different forms of corporeality will be explored as literary tropes. Primary texts will be examined alongside a diverse range of historical material, including anatomy textbooks and philosophical works, in order to contextualise theories of embodiment and selfhood. Looking at a range of texts by writers including Shakespeare, Donne, Montaigne, Webster, Marlowe, Amelia Lanyer, Jonson and Spenser, Bodies and Selves will examine how bodily systems shape textual forms. Students should be prepared for an intense programme of primary and secondary reading and for heavily discussion-based seminars. Assessment will be by a progression of essays; there is no exam. EN4361 The Novels of Jane Austen in Context
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am - 12.00 noon Mon
This module will examine the six major novels of Jane Austen in the context of novels by three of her contemporaries, Mary Wollstonecraft, Maria Edgeworth and Ann Radcliffe. It aims to encourage an understanding of Austen's work in the light of Romantic period aesthetics and politics and to explore Austen's affinities with and departures from the novelistic conventions of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. The module will also consider critical and theoretical approaches to Austen's writing and selected contemporary translations of Austen's work through recent screen adaptations of her novels. EN4365 Literature and Childhood in the Eighteenth Century
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	9.00 am - 11.00 am Wed
This module introduces students to some of the key themes and concerns of literature written for and about children in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries via the study of selected key works by a range of philosophical and political thinkers, educationalists, fiction writers and poets. Engaging in close reading of key texts, and drawing on contemporary discussions of and recent critical work on children's literature, students will consider the literary, social and political contexts and consequences associated with the imagining and interpretation of childhood and children's reading. EN4367 Romantic Gothic
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am Mon and 11.00 am Mon
This module examines the dark side of British Romanticism. Ghosts, reanimated bodies, monsters, fragmented manuscripts and haunted spaces fill the works of Romantic poets and novelists alike. The Romantics' fascination with the Gothic will be placed in the context of anxieties about the French Revolution, religion, sexuality, race and nation, as well developments in late eighteenth-century print and book production: the module includes a scheduled visit to Martyrs Kirk Library to view a selection of Gothic rare books. Students will also study eighteenth-century theoretical debates about terror and horror and engage with critical issues that have long occupied modern critics of the genre, such as the contested categories of Male and Female Gothic. EN4398 Short Dissertation
Academic year:	2017/8
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students also doing ID4002. Places on ID4002 will be limited and entry will be competitive. Only those applicants who are successful in being admitted to the placement module will be participants in this module.
Planned timetable:	9.00 am Tue
This module complements ID4002 'Communication and Teaching in Arts and Humanities' in which students gain substantial experience of a working environment. This module provides the opportunity for students to carry out an extended piece of work (in the form of a short dissertation) on a topic related to their work in ID4002. For example, the topic could have a pedagogical focus, exploring the place of English in education, or it could be a more detailed exploration of a subject related to the student's work in ID4002.
Programme module type:	Optional for English
Pre-requisite(s):	EN2003, EN2004
Co-requisite(s):	ID4002
Learning and teaching methods and delivery:	Weekly contact: 3 hours of classes over the semester, plus consultation hours.
	Scheduled learning: 3 hours	Guided independent study: 147 hours

EN4399 Dissertation in English
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8 & 2018/9
Planned timetable:	9.00 am Tue
This module provides an opportunity to undertake a sustained piece of independent work, on a topic chosen by the student in consultation with a member of the School, leading to the presentation of an essay not more than 10,000 words in length. The dissertation may consist of a critical discussion or of a project based on the extensive collection of electronic texts currently available to the School. It will involve personal reading and research and will develop a range of skills, including investigative reading, use of information technology, the exploitation of library and internet resources, and the organisation and presentation of evidence and argument. Guidance will be given on scholarly conventions and basic research methods. (Group D)(Guidelines for printing and binding dissertations can be found at: http://www.st-andrews.ac.uk/printanddesign/dissertation/)

SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Fri
This module provides an introduction to American fiction published between the end of the Civil War and the start of the Second World War. The module encourages students to evaluate the relationship between historical events (including Reconstruction, the 'Jazz Age', the Depression) and American literary movements and genres including the romance, the realist novel, the 'lost generation', the Harlem Renaissance and Southern Gothic. The module is centrally concerned with the conception and representation of American identity in fiction, and with heterogeneous definitions of 'the American novel'. These topics are considered in relation to the historical, social and geographical contexts of ten set texts. (Group E)

EN4422 Poetic Language
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester: 2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tue, 12.00 noon Thu
This module focuses on the history of thinking about poetic language, primarily in English-language traditions. Its core will be the study of twentieth- and twenty first-century theories of poetic language, but it will draw on theoretical and literary texts from the fourteenth century onwards. Poetic language is a contested topic in various established and emerging disciplines: literary linguistics, post-structuralist theory, philosophy of language, cognitive poetics, practice-led research. This module will draw together the study of poetic language from these various perspectives, and enable students to apply their theoretical studies to a wide range of poetic texts, and to appreciate how those texts complicate theoretical work. The module will help to bridge the gaps between different ways of studying poetry in the university context - theoretical, scholarly, creative. (Group E)

EN4423 Material Culture in Victorian and Modernist Fiction
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Fri
This module will use material culture studies as a lens through which to consider the continuities and ruptures between Victorian and modernist attitudes towards material culture and the ways in which attitudes towards the material informed the stylistic choices of fiction writers in these periods. Victorian novelists typically filled their works with detailed descriptions of physical environments and objects in order to create the 'solidity of specification' characteristic of realist fiction; modernist writers rejected this method as 'materialist' and sought alternatives to the solidity of the triple-decker novels of the Victorians. However, this module will question such easy distinctions and consider both differences and continuities between Victorian and modernist writers' fascination with and suspicion of things. Authors studied may include Elizabeth Gaskell, Charles Dickens, Arthur Conan Doyle, E M Forster, and Virginia Woolf. (Group E)

EN4424 Nationalists and Nomads: Contemporary World Literature
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Thu
In an era of globalisation who 'speaks' the nation-state? How do communities negotiate their borders? Who 'belongs' and who decides? This module explores the changing nature of the nation-state and cultural expressions of belonging in the wake of decolonisation, independence, revolution and globalisation. Exploring a diverse range of texts drawn from across the globe, we will question the significance of 'world literature' and its relation to postcolonialism, 'cosmopolitanism' and national literatures. From the Haitian Revolution, nationalist struggles in India and Africa, state oppression and dictatorships in the New World, to globalisation and cosmopolitanism, this module is an opportunity to reflect on the pressures facing our global imagined communities in the late twentieth- and twenty-first-centuries.

EN4425 Celtic Modernisms
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am - 12.00 noon Tue
How exclusive a club is modernism? Did Scottish and Irish cultural nationalism inform and trouble 'modernist' writing? And what role did writers from the 'Celtic fringe' of the British archipelago play in reinvigorating and reconfiguring the literary canon in the period between 1914 and 1939? By analysing a diverse range of texts from Scottish, Irish and (Anglo-)Welsh writers - from formal as well as socio-political perspectives - we will explore alternative views of the Modernist period: in particular we will examine the relationship between the Irish Literary Revival and the Scottish Renaissance, and between the Celtic periphery and the metropolitan centre, and also the ways the writers studied turned the English language, and its hierarchies and traditions, back on itself. EN4426 Civil Wars on Page and Screen
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Mon, plus film viewing 2.00 pm - 5.00 pm Fri
In this module we shall be looking at literary and cinematic representations of a number of different instances of civil war from the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. In the process, we will focus on issues such as gender, race, class, family and nationhood, politics of memory and commemoration, and the aesthetics of representing violence. We will examine the politics of definition of civil wars and think about civil wars as a consequence of colonialism and post-colonial nation-building. Questions we will be addressing include: What are the specific issues that are associated with civil wars? Is there a particular kind of literature that comes out of civil wars? What role does literature play in our perceptions of civil wars? How might it help or hinder post-civil war reconciliation? What are the differences between literature of different genres, and between literature and cinema, when it comes to representing civil wars?

EN4430 Making Performance
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	10.00 am - 12.00 noon Fri
The twentieth and twenty-first centuries have seen a broad range of radical approaches to the task of making performance. This module will explore a range of these approaches, which may include physical theatre, theatres of cruelty, puppetry and mask, psychophysical performance and situationism. Through practical workshops, students will explore the intersections of theory and practice, developing their skills as both researchers and makers of performance. (Group E) Note: As this is not an acting course, students will not be graded on their performing abilities, but on their understanding of performance techniques.

EN4432 Poetry and Cinema
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Tue, and film viewing 2.00 pm - 4.00 pm Fri (some weeks)
This module examines the relationship between poetry and cinema in the last century. Film is often treated as a narrative art, yet to a number of writers and filmmakers it is poetry, and not the novel, that is cinema's closest literary relative. This module considers tendencies and techniques common to both poetry and cinema, as well as key moments of cross-fertilisation between them in movements such as Surrealism and Modernism and through the development of the 'film-poem'. The role of 'the poet' as a subject of cinema and analogous treatments of the cinema as a subject for poetry will also be discussed. In exploring the concept of a 'poetry of cinema' we will pay close attention to the different ways these terms signify over time, the different uses to which they are put, and to contrasting methods and visions in the various movements, periods, and works under discussion, as we chart the relationship between this most ancient and this most modern of arts.

EN4500 Playwriting
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	11.00 am Wed and 12.00 noon Wed
Contemporary playwriting is flourishing in Britain, and this module will use the best examples of modern classic plays to unearth technique and skills that the students will then be asked to apply. The module aims to enable students to write for the theatre, to have an awareness of the creative process and to shape narrative into a scene or scenes. It is intended as an introduction to playwriting, and the expectation is that students will have little or no previous experience of playwriting, although a keen interest and enthusiasm for theatre is essential. The classes will combine an academic and a practical approach to developing writing: as well as formally studying the published works of established playwrights, we will also workshop the students' texts, and approach some exercises through improvisation. The module will also ask students to consider and evolve their view on the role of the playwright at a society level, and the cultural and political impact of a new play. (Group E)

EN4794 Joint Dissertation (30cr)
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8 & 2018/9
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students in the Second year of the Honours Programme, who have completed the Letter of Agreement, downloadable from https://www.st-andrews.ac.uk/coursecatalogue). No student may do more than 60 credits in Dissertation or Project modules.
Planned timetable:	9.00 am Tue
The dissertation must consist of approximately 10,000 words of English prose on a topic agreed between the student and two appropriate members of staff (who act as supervisors). The topic does not have to relate to work covered in previous Honours modules, though it may be helpful to the student if it builds on previous work. The topic and range of sources should be chosen in consultation with the supervisors in order to determine that the student has access to sources as well as a clear plan of preparation. (Guidelines for printing and binding dissertations can be found at: http://www.st-andrews.ac.uk/printanddesign/dissertation/)
