AH3904 From Hogarth to Sickert: British Painting and the Theatre (1740 - 1930)
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme.
Planned timetable:	Mon, 6.30 pm - 9.30 pm
As Walter Sickert famously stated in 1934: "The influence between brush and mask has at the best periods been reciprocal". This relationship, between painting and the theatre, has a long and productive history in British Art and Theatre History. From Hogarth's David Garrick as Richard III (1745) to Sickert's merging of tradition and the modern in his Shakespearean portraits of the 1930s, we will explore this interrelationship through a series of works by artists such as Joshua Reynolds, Henry Fuseli, John Everett Millais and Lawrence Alma-Tadema, amongst others. In addition, through inspiration from theatre productions and artist's set designs for the theatre we will explore how the theatre used artists and their works as inspiration and guidance in their productions. Simultaneously, through an analysis of theatre productions and artworks, we will investigate and discuss just how these artists reveal the changing social, cultural and artistic concerns of their day.

AS1901 The Physical Universe
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 7	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Wed 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module presents a descriptive, non-mathematical account of the physical universe. It is divided into two components: concepts in astronomy, dealing with our understandings of the properties and ages of planets, stars, galaxies, and their distributions in space, cosmology and the origin of the Universe; and concepts in physics, dealing with our understandings of the nature of light and matter, the structure of atoms, fundamental particles and their links to cosmology.
Programme module type:	Evening Degree Programme

BL1901 Human Biology
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 7	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Tue 6.30 - 9.30 pm
Lectures and seminars provide an introduction to the varied fields of study that relate to human biology. The module is structured such that we begin by looking at individual molecules and cells, and then examine how they build together to form integrated systems within our bodies, such as the nervous system and immune system. A wide variety of material is covered, ranging from anatomy, physiology and neuroscience through to digestion, cloning and genetics.
Programme module type:	Evening Degree Programme
Pre-requisite(s):	Entry to the Part-time Evening Degree programme
Anti-requisite(s):	BL1004

EN2901 Comedy in English Literature
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 8	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Thu, 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module builds on the work of EN1901 (Reading English) to give extended and deeper understanding of major literary texts, in drama, verse and prose, from the sixteenth century to the mid-twentieth century. The focus of the module is on comedy and comic forms of writing. This will include an introduction to theories of comedy and study of techniques of humorous writing. Since comedy is often used to comment on and criticise society, the relationship between writers and texts and the historical and social conditions of their times will also be a theme of the module, with particular reference to gender issues. The authors to be studied will include plays, poems and novels from Shakespeare to the present day.

EN3903 The English Poetic Tradition
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	Whole Year
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Fortnightly classes on Tue 6.30 - 9 pm.
This module covers aspects of the English poetic tradition from Chaucer to the twentieth century. The emphasis will be on the study of poems and groups of poems, linked by genre, theme or period, rather than the study of single authors, and will build on the study of poetry in the lower level Evening Degree modules EN1901 and EN2901.
Programme module type:	Evening Degree Programme
Pre-requisite(s):	EN1901, EN2901
Anti-requisite(s):	Any full-time module in English
Learning and teaching methods and delivery:	Weekly contact: The module will be taught in a series of fortnightly seminars, usually consisting of an introductory lecture or formal presentation by a member of the School followed by group discussion, in which students will be expected to participate. There will be typically eight meetings in each semester, each lasting from 6.30 pm to 9.15pm.
	Scheduled learning: 41 hours		Guided independent study: 259 hours
Assessment pattern:	As defined by QAA: Written Examinations = 0%, Practical Examinations = 0%, Coursework = 100%
	As used by St Andrews: Coursework (4 x 2,000 - 2,500 word essays) = 100%

ES1901 Understanding Geology
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 7	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Mon 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module introduces the student to modern theories of the Earth's formation, how it works and how it has evolved through time. Lectures and practical sessions will cover the study of crystals, minerals, rocks and fossils. The formation of igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic rocks, and of economic mineral deposits, will be considered within the context of Plate Tectonics. The fascinating geology of Scotland will be described and the module culminates with a short field excursion to examine rocks around St Andrews.
Programme module type:	Evening Degree Programme
Anti-requisite(s):	ES1001 or ES1002

MO2901 Europe in the Twentieth Century
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 8	Semester: 2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Mon 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This survey of twentieth-century history focuses on Europe, but includes relations and involvement with the USA. It is divided into three major themes: the First World War, the Second World War and The Cold War. Students will be assessed in each of these areas. Each week's class, in the form of a lecture followed by a small group tutorial, focuses on a specific topic such as the Russian Revolution, Nazi foreign policy or The Sixties. Issues which run through the module as a whole include nationalism, the changing nature of warfare, individuals in history and the role of the masses. Students will be introduced to the events of this period, to historical debate about these events and to the use of primary sources in historical analysis.

SC3903 History of Mediaeval St Andrews (EV)
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Thu 6.30 pm - 8.30 pm
The unique importance of St Andrews as an ancient site that developed into the ecclesiastical capital of Scotland during the mediaeval period, attracting international pilgrimage and, in the fifteenth century, the establishment of Scotland's first university, makes it an intriguing focus for study. The development of the burgh and its retention of much of its mediaeval layout allows it to be investigated through both documentary and material resources, particularly within a wider context of urban development throughout Western Europe during this period. By examining a wide range of sources from the earliest available evidence through to the Reformation, various aspects of life in mediaeval St Andrews may be analysed and understood.

Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Tue 6.30 - 9.30 pm
The module consists of two streams. One is a practical stream featuring commonly used application software for word processing, spreadsheets, presentations and web authoring. Topics covered in this stream will provide a range of transferable skills for use in the effective and efficient production of documents such as essays and CV's, producing and delivering presentations, and evaluating and contributing to the World Wide Web. The other is a conceptual stream aimed at presenting an overview of the place of computers in society with perspectives relating to some of the historical, social and ethical issues that should be considered when using computers in a business, educational or home environment.

IS2901 Information Technology 2
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 8	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Tue 6.30 - 9.30 pm
We are increasingly reliant on Internet-based services for a variety of routine tasks, for example, searching: Google; e-commerce: Amazon; e-government: Fife Council; travel: Network Rail timetable; management of educational processes: MMS. This module provides insight into the technologies and concepts that are used in the design, construction and deployment of such services. The main practical focus will be on the design and use of databases and advanced authoring, leading to an understanding of their combined use in the production of dynamic websites. This will be complemented by a conceptual stream drawn from areas within Electronic Commerce. No more than 50% of the material in this module will involve working directly with software, to ensure that the module is amenable to home study.

Planned timetable:	Tue 6.30 pm - 9.30 pm
This third-level Evening Degree module develops the topics introduced in IS2901. It provides a deeper understanding of the technologies and concepts underlying the design and implementation of database-driven web applications and introduces the complementary concepts of information security and usability in the context of interactive websites. The module consists of 2 streams: practical and conceptual. The practical stream focuses on the use of a scripting language in the creation of dynamic web pages; the conceptual stream draws from selected topics in Information Security, Usability, and Database design theory. No more than 50% of the material in this module will involve working directly with software, to ensure that the module is amenable to home study.

Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Thu 6.30 pm - 9.00 pm
The underpinnings of effective management are considered in this module which provides students with the opportunity to examine critically the nature of contemporary thinking about management in organisations and the contexts within which it takes place. Students are encouraged to relate the content to their own management experience and practice and to develop a reflexive approach to their own management development. The module will feature an interactive style of teaching/learning which will emphasise small group work, practical exercises and discussions alongside the traditional lecture. Assessment for the module will be based on individual assignments that will emphasise the practical application of knowledge and understanding. There are no examinations for this module.

PS3902 Theoretical Perspectives in Psychology
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Mon 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module will take a theoretical approach to understanding key ideas at the heart of modern psychology. The aim here is to explore in detail several of the theoretical perspectives and approaches used in psychology to describe and explain human behaviour and mental processes. Students will explore how psychology approaches issues such as the nature of consciousness, defining and understanding 'normality' and 'abnormality' (from case studies to populations), the theory of mind, and the impact of evolution on the nature of being human. Current theories and debates will be studied from the perspective of individual staff members, and their research interests, within the School of Psychology. The focus will be on understanding concepts; the module is not intended to provide training in experimental psychology techniques or methodology.

PY1901 Morality and Human Nature
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 7	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7 & 2017/8
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module will address aspects of what it is to be human, and to be a moral agent confronted with particular moral issues in the world. We will consider how aspects of our human nature have a bearing on the nature of moral agency and moral responsibility (e.g. by exploring issues of personal identity and free will), as well as considering some pressing moral problems (such as life-and-death issues like euthanasia and abortion; and issues arising from obligations we have to others - human or nonhuman). This module will provide a useful and stimulating introduction to some of the core questions of philosophy, from metaphysics to ethics.

Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme.
Planned timetable:	Wed 6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module will acquaint students with a number of central topics in Epistemology, Philosophy of Mind, and Metaphysics. Students will have the opportunity to discuss and critically evaluate philosophical issues and problems relating to such matters as knowledge (e.g.: what constitutes knowledge? How should we respond to sceptical arguments that threaten the very possibility of knowledge?), the mind-body problem (e.g. is the mind the same thing as the brain? If not, what is it? Can the conscious mind be explained by science?), and metaphysical questions concerning such matters as the nature of objects, persons and causation, and the existence of God.

SA1901 An Introduction to Anthropology
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 7	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	Wed 6.30 pm - 9.30 pm
This module aims to introduce evening degree students to the subject of Social Anthropology. It combines an examination of some of the core theoretical debates of the discipline with close reading and analysis of some classic ethnographic texts. Students will learn about anthropological modes of thinking through case studies of particular cultures and societies around the world. They will also be introduced to the anthropological method of research and to some of the historical conditions for the subject's emergence and development over time. By the end of the module students will have a keen sense of what anthropologists do, how they look at the world and what terms of analysis they utilise. They will also have a strong sense of the plurality of cultures in the world and the limits of many aspects of their own society or culture. Anthropologists stress the importance of understanding other ways of life. It is this increased understanding of a shared planet that is the invaluable gift that anthropology has to offer.

SA2901 Today's World
SCOTCAT Credits:	20	SCQF Level 8	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to students on the Evening Degree Programme
Planned timetable:	6.30 - 9.30 pm
This module investigates ways in which anthropological ideas and approaches can be used to understand the complexities of today's world. This module will situate anthropological works dealing with important themes in current world: economic, social and political debates such as development, climate change, and the indigenous people's political movement, within wider past and present frameworks of anthropological thought. We aim to show Evening Degree students the importance of anthropology as a discipline in understanding contemporary social phenomena as well as reinforcing the anthropological understanding and tools they were introduced to in SA1901.

SA3901 Ethnographic Project: Putting Anthropology to Practice in the 'Real' World
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to Evening Degree students.
Planned timetable:	Thu 6.30 pm - 9.30 pm
This module will allow you to finish your anthropological exploration in the Evening Degree by putting your knowledge into practice in the 'real' world by crafting, planning, researching, and writing your own short ethnographic research project. For this, you will be introduced to the main theories for social analysis in the discipline as well as exploring the anthropological method of enquiry through practical exercises. We will investigate how anthropological theory and research methods can be applied (and misapplied) in a range of practical everyday situations. By doing this, the module also invites you to assess the importance and applicability of social theory to today's world but also to debate on practical issues such as the ethics surrounding our research, the 'truth' status of ethnographic writing, or the power involved in the representation of anthropological subjects.

SA3902 An Anthropology of Global Social Issues
SCOTCAT Credits:	30	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Available only to Evening Degree students.
Planned timetable:	Thu 6.30 pm - 9.00 pm
This module invites students to critically assess what anthropological perspectives of the 'local' can contribute to an understanding of the 'global'. The module aims to show how ethnographically grounded research offers a unique lens for studying global social issues and new perspectives to guide action and policy aimed at tackling them. We will do this by approaching six global issues through ethnographic and theoretical perspectives to see how anthropology, more than an academic discipline, is a critical tool to approach the 'real' world. In doing so, we will get glimpses of anthropology's past, rethink its role in the present, and imagine its future(s).
