SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
In recent decades, life-writing has taken a decidedly visual turn. The incorporation of visual arts (painting, photography and cinema) in autobiographical texts and films raises and redefines issues central to the genre: (how) can the self can be 'narrated'? What role do images play in the process of self-reflection? Other aspects discussed in this module will include the use of painting, photography, and cinema as metaphors of life writing; the merging of the public and private spheres in art; the creation of hybrid texts and art works and the question of innovation; the gendered aspects of these visual modes of writing the self. Texts studied may include travel diaries of painters; autobiographical films; hybrid autobiographical texts incorporating illustrations; autobiographical texts by women artists; texts reflecting on theory and practice of 'photo-biography'; artistic projects framing the self as art work. The module will focus primarily on works from the end of the nineteenth century until the present and will include collaboration with the School of Art History.

Early-modern perceptions of gender and sexuality were based less on a series of binary opposites (man/woman, male/female, masculine/feminine) than on a fluid continuum. The literature of the period demonstrates a particular interest in the performative nature of sexuality and gender, featuring male and female cross-dressers, bisexual clergymen, individuals of indeterminate sex and so on. Primary texts encompassing a variety of cultures and genres by male and female authors will be studied; these might include Veronica Franco's Terze rime, Catalina Erauso's The Lieutenant Nun, The Transvestite Memoirs of the Abbé de Choisy, and John Lyly's Gallathea. Some theory will also be studied, including short excerpts from Butler, Foucault and Laqueur.

CO4026 Classicism in European Literature
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	±
Academic year:	2016/7 - not now running 2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
This module is about 'the best' writing. We will consider the notion of classicism in Italian, French and German literature, tracing the endeavours of generations of writers to rise to the challenge of antiquity by creating literary art which is well-proportioned, harmonious, and which advocates humanist ideals. Through this course, you will not only be introduced to some of the greatest writers Europe has produced (Goethe, Racine, Petrarca), you will develop as a comparatist by learning to reflect critically on national narratives of literary history. In particular, we will ask not only what classicism is, but also why writers and literary historians have felt it necessary to create their own, national classical centres and to what extent these are culturally specific.

Key methodological decisions will be taken by the group at the beginning of the semester, and students will be encouraged to draw on weekly group discussions when making decisions about their own version of the translation. FR4111 Discovering the Renaissance: Imitation, Interpretation and Imagination
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The sixteenth century is a time of invention and discovery: it is a time of broadening horizons, both literally - following Columbus's discovery of the New World - and metaphorically, as the wide-scale dissemination of knowledge becomes possible through the new medium of print. Yet it is also a time of instability and conflict, marked by the "invention" of gunpowder and by the growing schism between Catholics and Protestants, culminating in the horrors of the French religious wars. This module introduces students to a range of French Renaissance writers - from the seminal to the quirky - and examines how they respond to these shifting perspectives, which offer exciting intellectual and imaginative possibilities while casting serious doubt on ancient sources of knowledge and belief. The radical shift in literary authority that ensues encapsulates the humanism, scepticism and questions of identity that define the Renaissance.

FR4115 Representations of the Renaissance: Sixteenth-century France in Historical Novels and Films
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	11.00 am Mon and 12.00 Thu, plus occasional film viewings at 5.00 pm Tue.
What does it mean to refer to the sixteenth century as the French Renaissance? How has this conception – with its connotations of classical revival, of intellectual expansion and of individual identity – come about? How – and why – has this peculiarly privileged era been represented and reflected in literature and film over the ensuing centuries? And are such representations a fair reflection of this culturally rich but socially devastating period in France's history? This module seeks to answer some of these questions by comparing the cultural history of sixteenth-century France with its representation in historical novels and films from the seventeenth century to the present day. It allows students to compare original source material with literary representations and adaptations into film and also to reflect on what the reception history of the Renaissance might teach us as much about later periods as about sixteenth-century France itself.

FR4116 Mediaeval Marvels: The Exotic, the East and the Other in Mediaeval French Literature

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Relations between the mediaeval Occident and Orient were highly complex during a period that saw violent crusades and interracial conflicts. Cases abound where notions of East and West merge and the East itself may even appear as no more than fantasy. Alongside the hideous monsters common to medieval epic, throughout the 12th-13th centuries there are many examples of fascination with the East that betray a desire to emulate its opulence as well as a fear of the foreign. This module consequently aims to introduce students to a variety of literary representations of the mediaeval East and its residents, focussing above all on representations of cultural difference, the marvellous, and the exotic. The set texts give students the chance to engage with theoretical questions of otherness, fantasy and gender in relation to the specific historical period in question and to develop their ability to work critically with primary materials.

From a focus on religion to a study of travels through an enquiry of happiness, the thematic approach adopted in this module aims to reveal the exciting and formidably ambitious nature of the Enlightenment. The weekly seminars will offer students the opportunity to develop their expertise in the Enlightenment through close analysis of canonical texts by philosophers such as Montesquieu, Voltaire, Diderot or Rousseau. Finally, to underline the fact that the Enlightenment embraced the wide cultural reality of the 18th century, literature and philosophy will be studied alongside history, and most lectures will also consider painting and music.

FR4126 Flaubert's France
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester: 2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
This module focuses on the major works of Flaubert as prisms for understanding the ideological and aesthetic contexts of their times (1820-1870) and ours. Flaubert's exploration and representation of subjects including the taboo, and fictional transgressions of nineteenth-century literary norms make his works deeply relevant to investigating similar twenty-first-century issues and debates. Seminars explore texts in chronological order through a programme of prescribed passages for close reading, topics for class discussion and individual and group tasks involving engagement with secondary critical resources. One aim of the course is to ascertain what is transgressive and avant-garde in Flaubert's works. Another is to understand how literary works of the past can provide prescient insights into issues in contemporary France as a first-world culture. The overall structure of the course proactively facilitates textual/contextual analysis and synthesis as well as investigative learning.

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
What does it mean to write as a woman? What does it mean to write as a particular woman in a specific place, at a specific time? What, if anything, does the term 'women's writing' actually mean, and do we still need it? This module introduces students to some of the most important approaches to French feminist theory and literary studies since the publication of Simone de Beauvoir's Le Deuxième sexe in 1949. It then goes on to consider four novels by women writers publishing between the 1970s and the present, asking to what extent they can be read in terms of feminist theory, and how their representation of the social, cultural and artistic position of being a woman and a writer changes with the times.

FR4183 African Francophone Fiction
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
From Senegal to Rwanda, the former colonial language of French is spoken in 26 countries on the African continent. One of the important legacies of French and Belgian colonisation in Africa has been the emergence of African francophone literature. However, the African writer's relationship with the French language is a conflictual one, bound up with a history of colonial oppression. This module introduces students to fiction in French by writers from sub-Saharan Africa from the 1950s to the twenty-first century. Through the study of a selection of novels by major African authors, students will develop knowledge and understanding of the contexts of production of francophone African literature and the impact of colonisation on African literature in French, alongside a sophisticated analytical grasp of the literary works themselves.

GM3073 The Mediaeval Short Story
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The earliest German short stories, known as Mären, were funny tales about beautiful princesses, clever wives, stupid priests, wandering body parts, crossed-dressed knights, intrigue and mayhem. Using comedy, they explore some of the most problematic aspects of mediaeval culture, such as class, gender and religion. Long disregarded as popular culture, Mären have recently emerged as one of the most fascinating areas of mediaeval fiction. This module introduces students to the genre and some of its key topics.

GM3080 Grammatical Rules and Lexical Exceptions in Modern German
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Grammatical rules and lexical exceptions in modern German are considered against the background of Saussurean structuralism and in relation to language teaching. Saussure said that a language is a system, and languages do indeed have rules, in their grammar. But most rules of grammar have a long list of unexplained exceptions - why? The view taken in this module is that unexplained exceptions indicate that the grammarians have got the rule wrong. We look at two rules of modern German to see how a close examination of their unexplained exceptions can point to a new and better rule: the passive and non-passivisable transitive verbs; and tense formation and strong verbs.

GM3081 Words and their Functions in Modern German
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm Tue and Thu.
This module focuses on vocabulary in modern German (in contrast to GM3080, which focuses on grammar), on words and their categorisation, structure and functions. We begin by looking at the functional (as opposed to structural) approach to language, which sees language as action and effects rather than as a static grammar + lexicon. We consider three approaches to the categorization of German vocabulary, i.e. the parts of speech: categorisation by syntax, by morphology, and by semantics. Two areas of language and politics are discussed: feminist linguistics, and Nukespeak. Finally, we examine word formation in German, covering compounds, prefixes, suffixes, conversion, and morphological transparency versus opacity.

GM3088 Travel Writing in German since 1990
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Although literary scholars declared the German-language travelogue to be a dead genre in 1989, travel writing enjoyed a remarkable resurgence in the two following decades. This revival appears to have been prompted by such factors as the radical reconfiguration of real (and imaginary) geographies in the wake of German Reunification. At the same time as this resurgence, there occurred a shift in cultural studies referred to as the "spatial turn". Theorists of culture were becoming interested in how constructing and negotiating space bears upon identity. In this module the insights of the spatial turn are applied to the reading of the newest German-language travel writing.

Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
For almost 70 years German-language culture has wrestled with the burden of responsibility for the Second World War and the Holocaust and constantly questioned the capacity of literature, film and memorials to represent both the past and the conscience of the nation. This module will explore cultural memory of the Nazi past in Germany from 1945 to the present day, situating it in its philosophical and socio-political context. Students will analyse a wide variety of texts, debates and memorials, from novels to Youtube memes, asking what Vergangenheitsbewältigung was, is and will be in the future.

GM4046 Mediaeval Things
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
One of humanity's fundamental assumptions is that we self-determined humans are superior to inanimate objects. Mediaeval literature, however, is full of things that have powers over humans and act like them: they can speak, feel, move, have names and biographies: swords, relics, books, stones, coats and others. This module investigates the supernatural and natural powers of things in a range of texts, such as romances. We will also gain an overview of the recent 'thing theories' trying to understand the continued agency of objects from a variety of postmodern perspectives, and compare them to the mediaeval conceptions.

GM4049 Language and Ideology in the GDR and West Germany from 1949 - 1989
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
This module examines the relationship between language and politics by comparing the language of the FRG and the GDR in the period 1949-1989. The question posed is: did the two German states use language as an ideological weapon, or were their language differences merely a reflection of their different political systems, one capitalist, the other socialist? We will analyse texts of the period, e.g. from Neues Deutschland and the West German press, and use the Leipzig Duden and the Mannheim Duden, to bring out and examine the grammatical, lexical, word-formation and textual features which were characteristic of the language of the two Germanies during the Cold War.

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	12.00 noon Mon and 11.00 am Wed.
This module traces the unique story of Shakespeare's role in German literary and cultural life from the eighteenth to the twentieth century. Shakespeare is the external point of reference for Enlightenment debate, the iconoclastic example for irreverent "Stümer und Dränger". Through the mature criticism and translation of the Classical-Romantic age, Shakespeare achieved national status as a symbol of the German spirit and this role was secured in 1864 with the founding of the world's oldest Shakespeare Society – in Weimar! Students will follow this evolving reception through a range of genres, such as critical essays, plays, and German Shakespeare translations. Authors include Lessing, Goethe, Schiller, Schlegel and Fontane, among others.

GM4072 German Classicism
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Whether it is in authors like Goethe and Schiller, or works like Iphigenie, and Maria Stuart, or concepts like 'Bildung', the cultural legacy of the short period of 'Weimar Classicism in Germany and Europe is undeniable and omnipresent. This module assesses the scope of this literary achievement and what lay behind it. The focus of the module will be on the close analysis of a range dramatic and poetic texts (such as Tasso, Tell, and Hölderlin's odes) studied in their intellectual and biographical contexts. In reading the 'classics' of German literature, we will be asking, what makes a 'classic'? Why did Germany feel it had to have a classical age at the end of the eighteenth-century? And what is specific about German Classicism in the context of other European 'Classicisms'?

GM4073 Women in German Letters
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Although today we take the participation of women in German letters for granted, the student of earlier periods cannot fail to observe that the pantheon of German literature contains few women. Yet women played a decisive part in constituting the field of German letters, as readers, authors, translators, critics and mediators. In this module students will encounter women writing in German who fulfil several of these roles. In the course of such encounters we shall address such issues as the historical canon, the accessibility of writing by women, and the influence of gender on literary work and the market for literature.

Covering topics as diverse as the crusades, Arabian Nights, papacy and courtly love, the films studied include some of the major milestones of the genre, and are investigated from the perspective of the German elements of their production and reception, and of their shared concern with fantasy, temporality, visuality/writing and individual vs. collective identity.

Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The end of the GDR also saw the closure of the East German Film studios, DEFA, threatening its films with commercial oblivion. However, since reunification the many culturally and artistically significant films made under DEFA have increasingly attracted critical attention. This module will consider a number of these films spanning four decades in order to explore the way in which they navigate the political and censorial climate of the GDR and such issues as: East German cultural identity, the politics of the ordinary, the East German realist aesthetic, gender identities and feminism, the conflict between the individual and the state and the role of the artist in the GDR. We conclude the course by considering a film produced post reunification.

GM4094 The German Long Story (1880 - 1941)
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
In the German nineteenth-century a class of prose fictions longer than short stories and shorter than novels enjoyed more critical and popular success than any other prose genre. Critics usually referred to these texts as novellas, harking back to an illustrious European tradition, and developing elaborate theories of what the novella was -- or, more importantly, of what it should be. This module will keep an open mind on the novella, putting the long stories themselves, rather than theories about them in the spotlight. What made these texts so popular, and so hotly debated by German critics? How does length influence the ways in which stories are composed, published, read and critiqued? In the module we will read six long stories from the period 1880 - 1941, attending to the ways in which these fictions tackle the themes of modernity.

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
What happened in German literature between the death of Goethe and the appearance of Thomas Mann? What were the Germans doing when Flaubert and Tolstoy were writing? Often labelled inward-looking and provincial, German Realists were critical artists producing works of real beauty which reflect on the role of literature in the modern age. This module explores the aims and practices of German-speaking authors from 1845 - 1898. Students will examine theoretical writings alongside a range of representative literary texts (poetry, novels and novellas) from German and Austrian authors such as Stifter, Storm and Fontane. Students will develop their own definitions of Realism and reflect on the value of this movement for modern readers.

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Availability restrictions:	Availability to be confirmed closer to the time.
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
Primo Levi is probably the best-known and most-widely read Italian writer of the twentieth-century. Outside of Italy, Levi is seen as perhaps the major voice in Holocaust writing. He was the author of a rich body of work that was indelibly marked by his experience of Auschwitz, but also by his professional expertise as a scientist and by the secular Piedmontese Jewish tradition in which he grew up. This module will offer students an introduction to Levi's work focussing on his major thematic and ethical concerns and examining how he deals with them in different literary genres. The unit will look both at Levi's critical reception, but also at the response of one Italian film-maker to Levi's La tregua (1963) in which he recounts his journey back to Italy on his release from the concentration camp. The unit will give students a comprehensive introduction to the work of this major writer and the variety of genres in which he wrote. It will situate his work in the context of Holocaust memorial culture in Italy and elsewhere.

Availability restrictions:	Availability to be confirmed closer to the time.
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The module looks at how the phenomenon of Italian mass emigration has been represented in Italian culture since 1960. Through the study of texts such as Melania Mazzucco's Vita, Carmine Abate's Il muro dei muri, and Laura Pariani's Quando dio ballava il tango, the module looks at how Italian identity is affected by cultural mobility across continents. The texts deal with emigration to a range of different locations – USA, Germany, Argentina, Australia – but the emphasis of the module is on how these texts construct Italy from a distance. The module looks at questions of home and belonging, cultural hybridity, emigrant language, and the various historical forces which prompted Italians to migrate.

It is no exaggeration to say that, for a variety of reasons, Dante Alighieri is the single most important figure in the history of Italian literature. This module completes the study of Dante by looking at his work before and after the Inferno. Before the Inferno, Dante was best known as the author of the Vita nuova. This is our first text for study. Less read and more difficult, according to Dante himself, the Paradiso concludes the Commedia and is our other text for study. To complete our examination of Dante's ideas, reference will also be made to the Convivio, the Monarchia, and the De vulgari eloquentia, as well as to the Purgatorio and Inferno.

Academic year:	2016/7
Availability restrictions:	Availability to be confirmed closer to the time.
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The module looks at the relationship between Italian identity and whiteness. In the nineteenth century Italian race theorists argued for a close connection between Africa and the Italian South at a time when Italy's colonial adventure was about to start. The fascist publication La difesa della razza tried to protect the nation from contamination by other races but especially Jews. Recent migration to Italy from across the globe has provoked a range of challenges to the nature of Italian identity. Through the study of a range of literary and film texts from the 1860s to the present day, this module explores Italy's abiding concern with protecting its own whiteness from contamination.

Russian crime fiction is a hugely popular genre with the contemporary reading public and yet one which remains relatively critically neglected. This module provides students with the opportunity to study the history of the practice of crime fiction in Russia from c.1860 up to the present day. Students will consider the specific socio-historical context of the birth of the genre in the reform period of the early 1860s, as well as issues of 'high' and 'low' aesthetic genres, before moving on to read a broad range of such works. Discussion throughout will focus on both the literary poetics of the works as well as their relationship to historical situation and debate. Authors to be studied include: Sokolovskii, Panov, Dostoevskii, Shkliarevskii, Chekhov, Sokolova, Shaginian and Akunin.

RU4151 The City in Soviet and Russian Cinema
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 10	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	To be arranged.
The history of Soviet cinema and the modern Soviet city are inextricably intertwined. From the very inception of the Communist state, the rapidly changing urban environment became a focus for cinematic reflection. Conversely, cinema played a fundamental role in forming urban identities through both the projection of an ideal of city life to communities and the collective experience of spectatorship. This module engages with representations of the city in Soviet and post-Soviet cinema as a utopian or dystopian space, a place of revolution, social transformation, warfare, invention, criminality, poverty, and memory. It looks at the ways the city has been understood and portrayed in Soviet cinema, from the use of mise-en-scène, montage, and editing, to dialogue, soundtracks and documentary recordings. The syllabus will include works by prominent Soviet and post-Soviet directors including Sergei Eisenstein, Vladimir Menshov, Aleksei Balabanov, and Valeriia Gai Germanika.

SP3145 Post-1975 Writing in Spain 1
SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	3.00 pm - 4.30 pmTue
The aim of the module is the close study of a selection of literary texts (works of prose fiction and poetry, in the main) produced in the post-Franco period. These narratives distance themselves from the realist (and experimental) mode of writing that dominated much of the literature produced between 1939 and the 1970s. Instead, they construct subjective worlds that, nevertheless, tend towards a universality of experience and can be seen as part of a process of the gradual 'normalization', Europeanisation, and universalisation of Spanish cultural creations. The selection is likely to include five works written by authors born after the end of the Civil War, such as: A. Bautista, F. Benítez Reyes, J. Cercas, L.A. de Cuenca, L. García Montero, J Marmas, E. Mendoza, A. Muñoz Molina, A. Orejudo, A. Pérez-Reverte, S. Puértolas and A. Rosetti. In the case of poetry, a relevant anthology including some of these authors will be recommended.

SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	2
Academic year:	2016/7
Planned timetable:	11.00 am- 12.30 pm Wednesday.
This module is designed to introduce students to the complex and fascinating relations between culture and history within the context of post-Civil War Spain, providing them with an interdisciplinary knowledge of that period. In particular, it aims at exploring the value of film and poetry as modes of cultural resistance to dominant political and ideological discourses. In order to do so, we will be looking at the work of a number of key authors in the history of contemporary Spanish literature (such as José Hierro, Ángel Gonzalez, Gloria Fuertes, Jaime Gil de Biedma, and José Ángel Valente, amongst others) and cinema (typically, L. García Berlanga, J. A. Bardem, B. Martín Patino, V. Erice, C. Saura, etc).

Planned timetable:	11.00 am - 12.30 pm Wed
In this module the exploration of autobiographical writing in contemporary Spain has multiple objectives. It will provide an introduction to the problems and characteristics of autobiographical writing as an important literary genre. These theoretical tools will be applied to a problematic and ambiguous example (Lazarillo de Tormes) as well as to the works of major writers who have had an impact on their society (Rafael Alberti, Carmen Martín Gaité, Terenci Moix). It will also consider the texts as interventions in the cultural and historical context as well as identity debates in contemporary Spain. SCOTCAT Credits:	15	SCQF Level 9	Semester:	1
Academic year:	2017/8
Planned timetable:	2.00 pm – 3.30 pm Thu
This module introduces writing by women during and after the Franco dictatorship in Spain and trace the developments in female-authored literature that went hand in hand with social and political change. Despite the regime's insistence on their secondary status and the dismissal of their writing as trivial, several important female writers emerged during the Franco period and their works engage with issues of gender and identity, as well as questions of freedom and conformity. The module will explore how they conveyed a subversive message and portrayed alternative role models to a female readership despite restrictions. The module will also consider how later generations, while echoing some of the same concerns, also draw on Anglo-American traditions in their work. A selection of literary texts by authors such as Carmen Laforet, Rosa Chacel, Carmen Martin Gaité, Ana Maria Matute, Josefina Aldecoa, Rosa Montero, Lucia Etxebarria and Belen Gopegui will be studied.
